Friday afternoon, 7 March 2014 marked the day that TEG staff and clients headed off to Pukekohe Golf Club for 18 holes of golf. The proceeds of the tournament were donated to Engineers Without Borders.

The first of the five teams teed off at 12:30, and although not all players were equally experienced in golf, warm weather, a stash of cold water and good spirits contributed to the success of the day. Everyone enjoyed a drink and a meal afterwards just before prize giving.

TEG has chosen Engineers Without Borders (EWB) as a charity for this event as we are inspired by the sustainable developmental aid EWB is providing in the South Pacific.

Being a provider of innovative and comprehensive project solutions to the food and beverage sector in the South Pacific ourselves, TEG is inspired that the focus of EWB's projects are not only aimed at engineering projects, but also to improving the quality of lives in disadvantaged communities.

TEG is proud to support such a worthy cause. To find out more about this charity visit ewb.org.nz
